

NEWSLETTER SEPTEMBER 2023 EDITION 2023-09

Editors: Herman Sligman – Ruud Janssen

mailto: redactie@rcloos.nl

The main objective of our Branch is to fulfill an active role during commemorations at Canadian and other allied military cemeteries, monuments and ceremonies where fallen soldiers from the Second World War are remembered.

IN THIS EDITION:

From the secretary

Promotional tent in Oosterbeek

Ceremony Mook

Ceremony Holten

Promotional tent on Ginkelse Heide

Commemoration at Engineers Monument

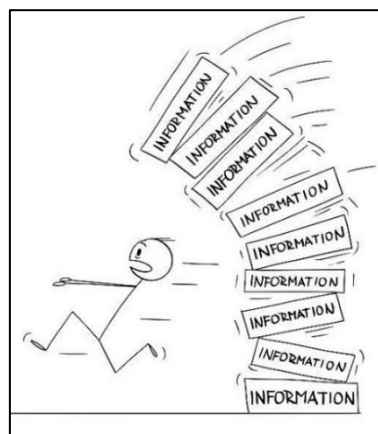

Monument tour Groesbeek

Commemoration Oosterbeek Airborne Cemetery

and of course:

MISCELLANEOUS

with a contribution by Wim Poppenk

FROM THE SECRETARY:

How to avoid that the dignity of a tribute to an Canadian liberator is affected?

PROBLEMS WITH THE ROBERT MOULTON PATH IN WILNIS.

(Warrant Officer Robert Moulton RCAF is the pilot of the Vickers-Wellington Bomber NA-K HE 727. He died in Wilnis on May 5, 1943 after a heroic act).

The following action point is included in the 2024 Framework Memorandum of the Municipality of De Ronde Venen.

Preparing and implementing the Vinkeveen-Mijdrecht cycle route:

"With this exploration we look at the possibilities for using the 'Bello path' to be expanded with bicycle traffic."

At first glance, this seems like an exploration that no one will have any problems with.

Nothing is less true.

Officially the 'Bello path' does not exist. However, this name does have a historical background.

This concerns a former railway track Mijdrecht-Wilnis-Vinkeveen.

Up to now, it has been a beautiful, largely rural hiking trail where many people have a quiet and peaceful walk.

Also, many people consider the path as a cultural heritage.

The locomotive that was used at the time there was called "Bello", hence the name Bello path.

However, this name is not official and therefore, there is a possibility that the citizens will be misled.

It turns out that the planned cycle path will largely run over the Robert Moulton path that I initiated.

At least to the extent that the path runs from Mijdrecht to the former Wilnis railway station.

According to the Municipality's maps, only the Robert Moulton path is an official name.

The intention is apparently to split the Robert Moulton path into two paths, a walking path and a cycle path.

The Robert Moulton path was unveiled on April 29, 2009.

The unveiling was made by Canadian Ambassador H.E. Ms. Sabine Nölke and Mayor Maarten Divendal.

Information panels have also been placed with information about, among other things, the attack with the Vickers Wellington on Dortmund in 1943, the crash during the home flight and the crew members F/Sgt Joseph White and F/Sgt Adrien Thibaudeau who also died.

The crew members Sergeant Gordon Carter and F/Sgt Howard Hoddinott survived the crash.

The crew of the HE 727

Monument near the crash site

The special honourable mention of pilot Robert Moulton was made because it was established that the pilot attempted an emergency landing to prevent the burning aircraft from crashing in the center of Wilnis. Robert Moulton died as a result.

The Robert Moulton path can therefore also be regarded as a war memorial that should provide the opportunity for commemoration and reflection.

For ,more information, I refer to the article in the RCL magazine edition 2019-04.

I have now expressed my concerns about the Municipality's plans and had a meeting with the alderman in charge.

I put forward the following arguments:

- there is insufficient space for a footpath and in combination with a cycle path;
- the expected influx of bicycles, electric bicycles, fat bikes, all terrain bikes will seriously disrupt the tranquility and peace on the Robert Moulton path;
- cycling traffic can also lead to dangerous situations.

In the meantime multiple organizations, such as: the Cyclists Union, the Walking Network and the National Forestry Network have taken a stand against the construction of a cycle path.

An enthusiastic lady, Kelly Kessen, has set up an action group.

The group, which is against the plans, has already collected more than 1,500 signatures for a petition to be submitted.

Further developments are awaited.

Warrant Officer Robert Benjamin Moulton and his crew have therefore received a lot of extra attention and this will continue for a long time.

Even in this situation, "LEST WE FORGET" will continue to apply.

I will keep you informed of the progress.

Mr. Jan C.K. van Loo LL.M.

Promotional tent at the Airborne March Oosterbeek Saturday, September 2, 2023.

The forecast was that it would be a bright day. But at 6:15 am it was far from bright. Heading for Oosterbeek, it was so foggy that I couldn't drive faster than 80 km/h on the highway. Fortunately, I left on time so that I was at the agreed time in Oosterbeek.

I was waiting in the car for Berry and I had sandwiches and coffee for him with me. When Berry had finished his coffee, we together set up the tent. Although a neighbour helped out, Berry did most of the work. Then we placed the tables and Berry had finally time for his breakfast.

I started organizing the tables. I have done this so many times that it's a piece of cake for me. It takes some time, but then everything is ready in the way it should be. Everything in price order. That is the easiest for the crew, who have never helped before. Everything was almost ready when Ruud, Mieke and Toon arrived. We had a cup of coffee together and started looking over everything and I gave some explanation. It is all quite simple if you know a bit about everything and then the rest will follow automatically.

It was, like the years before, a great day in Oosterbeek. Sales were also excellent again. Everything for the better of our objectives. Hopefully we will receive new items for the next event (Airborne landings at the Ginkelse Heide), because it all sold so well that some items were sold out.

Once it was about eleven o'clock and the sun started to shine a little, the walkers passed by in large numbers. Good for turnover.

It was all hands-on to help everyone as quickly as possible. It was so busy that I had to take home half of the catering, because we barely had time to eat or drink something.

Around 2:30 PM the crowds decreased a bit and we started cleaning up, sorting and packing. And, most importantly, counting the money.

Every time I'm curious about the outcome of the day.

It turned out that we had, once again, raised a nice amount of money for the benefit of the objectives of RCL Branch 005.

I was extremely grateful to Berry, Ruud, Mieke and Toon that we have achieved this great result together again!

I'm already looking forward to the next event on September 16th.

A beautiful event on the Ginkelse Heide with many paratroopers in the air as a commemoration of Operation Market Garden in 1944.

Elly van Wakeren-van Merkestijn

Mook, September 5, 2023.

Mook War Cemetery is the final resting place for 322 fallen soldiers from the Second World War, located in the Dutch municipality of Mook and Middelaar. The cemetery is maintained by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission.

The 322 fallen come from five different countries, United Kingdom (297), Poland (11), Canada (10), Australia (3) and New Zealand (1)

Text: comrade Dré van Roomen. Photos: comrades Richard Hendriks and Dré van Roomen.

Early to rise to attend a very special event.

Although an "last minute deployment", we were present with a small delegation from The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 005, 'Liberation of the Netherlands'.

It was the so-called 'rededication' of the grave of Canadian trooper Henry George Johnston of the 1st Canadian Armoured Carrier Regiment also known as 'Kangaroos'.

Many of Henry's relatives, 2 daughters, 3 granddaughters and great-grandson, were present at this ceremony. But also, representatives of various organisations, the Mayor of the municipality, the Canadian Embassy and the Canadian Armed Forces.

Henry was killed on January 17, 1945 in Baakhoven during the opening phase of Operation Blackcock - the Battle of the Roer Triangle. For a long time, Henry was buried as "unknown" in Mook. The research to give this grave eventually a name and a 'face' is a very special story. The ceremony was appropriately closed by a violinist playing "We'll meet again..." by Vera Lynn.

It is very special to be present at such an emotional rededication.

Editorial addition:

On behalf of The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 005 'Liberation of the Netherlands', a wreath was laid by Gerrit Bruggink, 1st Vice-President and Comrade Richard Hendriks.

Holten, September 13, 2023.

Indigenous Legacy Ceremony op de CWGC Canadian War Cemetery.

The Canadian Armed Forces had unveiled the first headstones bearing marks of Canada's Indigenous People who died in wartime during a ceremony in 2022. (See edition 2022-06)

There are also many Canadian victims from WW2 buried in the Netherlands. Some of them are also of Indigenous descent.

After many years of researching by comrades Yvonne and Berry Swarthoff in particular, an initiative has been started by The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 005, 'Liberation of the Netherlands' (RCL005) to give concrete substance to the marking of those deceased liberators: the Indigenous Legacy Project was born in the Netherlands.

The first step was to identify the graves in the large CWGC cemeteries (Bergen op Zoom, Groesbeek and Holten).

RCL005 President Martin Reelick, as 'half Canadian', has initiated a number of actions based on his passion for the subject, which really started things off. The help of the Holten information center, Radboud University Nijmegen, the NANAI Foundation and Faces-to-Graves was called in to obtain and validate the data of the deceased liberators.

Glenn Miller

Comrade Herman Sligman is a true researcher and has provided the data and secured communication lines within the project.

From Canada, the help of veteran and Indigenous expert Glenn Miller was indispensable for contacts with Veterans Affairs Canada (VAC) and the various Indigenous groups.

With the approval of the various Indigenous groups in Canada, the graves could be marked. According to specific tradition, this must be done in a ceremony. It also concerns Canadian compatriots, who are buried in a Canadian cemetery in the Netherlands. That is why VAC took the lead in the project for the first ceremony in Holten.

The relatives of the deceased from Canada were invited to attend.

The Mayor and Aldermen of Rijssen/Holten welcomed the guests

Leaders of Indigenous groups, such as 'Chiefs' and 'Elders', members of the Canadian government, such as the Minister and Deputy Minister of VAC, members of the Canadian Embassy in the Netherlands and others were also invited.

Present from the Netherlands were the Mayor of Holten-Rijssen with four Aldermen and a limited number of guests, who are involved in the project. The Colour Party of RCL005 was also asked to attend.

The traditional native ceremony was led by Tammy and Bernard Nelson from Canada
© Ronald Hissink

This action symbolizes communication with 'The Creator'. In this way they make contact with the deceased, in this case the Canadian native soldiers who fell in the Netherlands.

From there, all the guests received a tuft of tobacco to make their offering. There were speeches and Indigenous music and songs. A number of wreaths were laid; everything very impressive.

The Canadian relatives visited the graves of their deceased and paid their respect there. sometimes together with the children present. The youth must of course know what had happened and should never happen again.

After the ceremony there was lunch in Mondani restaurant, there were discussions and a number of gifts were exchanged.

N.B. The relatives also visited the CWGC Canadian Cemeteries in Bergen op Zoom and Groesbeek to honour the victims there.

John Desrosiers, Director, International Operations, Commemoration and Public Affairs of VAC and responsible for, among other things, the activities surrounding the Canadian monument of the First World War in Vimy, France, acted as master of ceremonies.

Partly the ceremony had a private character, the part in which the Indigenous Peoples called on their ancestors to be present in "Spirit".

The ceremony was very personal for those involved. Taking photos or videos was prohibited when the group smoked a pipe with tobacco in a circle in front of the memorial cross at the cemetery.

Ritual ceremony

Have a look on our Facebook-account too: <https://www.facebook.com/rcloos.nl>

Ruud Janssen

Photos: Anneke Poppenk and Berry Swarthoff

Indigenous symbols

Promotional tent Ginkelse Heide. Saturday, September 16, 2023.

As usual, we may say, the promotion team was present with a tent in Ede on the Ginkelse Heide.

The start of Operation Market Garden is commemorated with a massive airborne exercise.

Many nationalities participate in this, it is also the conclusion of the international exercise 'Falcon Leap'.

An event that attracts a huge number of spectators. In marketing terms: a lot of 'suspects'.

The occupation of the stand was more extensive than usual.

Leading lady: Elly van Wakeren-van Merkestijn, who else?

Assisted by:

Connie Lempke, Ruud Janssen, Wim and Anneke Poppenk and very special: the representative of our Youth Auxiliary: Suzanne Groeneveld and her father Reinier.

Mission: to generate maximum turnover for our Branch 005 that will benefit the achievement of our objectives.

The mission of Suzanne and her father: to draw the elderly's attention to the 'youth department' and hopefully to interest or recruit young people (under 18 years old) in it.

And let's face it, when you see the staff at the promotional tent, you at least take a look.

By the way, the gentleman with the black polo is the Vice President of Branch 274 Fraser Lake B.C. He was in the Netherlands with a Canadian group. Emigrated in 1966.

Below is Reinier Groeneveld's report:

The Youth Auxiliary on the Ginkelse Heide.

On September 16, the Youth Auxiliary was present at the promotion tent of RCLO05 on the Ginkelse Heide.

Here we helped sell our merchandise.

We were a team of 7 people and even though we were well staffed, we were hardly idle for a moment.

The interest of children in receiving a Canadian flag was striking. Our entire stock (and it were many) has been enthusiastically received by many children (and parents and grandparents).

Also, it was the first time that we used our own Youth Auxiliary promotional material.

At the tent there were information boards with QR codes that link to our promotional video and to the Canadian War Graves and Monuments map.

We also brought flyers to hand out with information about the Youth Auxiliary.

We have provided approximately 40 interested parties with information. It turned out that not only the youth was interested, but several history teachers were interested as well.

Since then, our promotional video on YouTube has been viewed dozens of times. We hope this is the start of even more interest in the Youth Auxiliary.

In addition, many people were interested in the Canadian War Graves and Monuments map. Explanation about this led to many good conversations. It was great fun to experience all the enthusiastic responses.

The Youth Auxiliary has many great plans for the future.

If you would like to know more about this or if you know children between the ages of 12 and 18 who are interested in becoming a member, please let us know: youth@rcloos.org.

You can also follow our activities on Instagram:

https://www.instagram.com/youth_auxiliary_rcl_branch005/

Reinier Groeneveld

This empty box of the flyers speaks for itself, right?

Engineers Monument.
Saturday, September 16, 2023.

Ceremony at the monument that commemorates the evacuation of the Allied soldiers after the failed attempt to capture and secure the bridge at Arnhem during Operation Market-Garden.

Several comrades from RCL Branch 005 'Liberation of the Netherlands' were present here of different representations.

The following were spotted:

Danny Murphy, Toon van Bussel, Fred de Graaf, Amanda Slotboom, Maikel Slotboom, Alice van Bekkum Henk van den Boom and Richard Hendriks.

Danny and Toon laid a wreath on behalf of RCL Branch 005. Amanda and Maikel assisted the organization during the ceremony.

Many delegations laid a wreath.

Among others the Canadian Embassy in the Netherlands.

The presence of a group of Polish scouts was special.

You can watch a nice video registration via this link:

<https://youtu.be/YUyYAobKJTs>

© RTV Connect

In Driel the deployment of the Polish troops is also not forgotten.

On September 14, there were many visitors at the annual 'Poland concert' in the Roman Catholic Church in Driel.

The music group Promyki from Krakow organized this evening, which was a great success.

The concert was led by Roma Kremien, the group performed a nice number of songs and there was dancing. Like a tango, which originates from Eastern Poland, the area where many war veterans were born.

Below is a 'still' from the video recording of RN7.

You can watch the entire ceremony with this link below.

<https://youtu.be/CToAGUVtQ9c>

Polenherdenking Driel 2023 (Upamiętnienie Polski) || LIVESTREAM

Groesbeek, Monument Tour.
Sunday, September 17, 2023.

Again, a lot participants were present on this tour along various memorial sites. Comrades from The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 005 also attended. A wreath was laid at the church by comrade Danny Murphy on behalf of the Canadian Embassy.

A wreath was laid at the General Gavin monument by him and comrade Toon van Bussel on behalf of RCL Branch 005.

At the monument Colonel Marc LaFortune was present for a wreath laying ceremony on behalf of the Canadian Embassy. →

It goes without saying that the 82nd Airborne Division made an appearance.

Berg en Dal Broadcasting made a beautiful video registration.

Click on the link below for a view, it takes about 6 minutes.

<https://youtu.be/ecolvf2ZABQ>

Photos as far as known: Richard Hendriks and a 'still' from the video of Omroep Berg en Dal.

Arnhem/Oosterbeek. CWGC Airborne War Cemetery.
Sunday, September 17, 2023.

With great interest (thousands of people were present), the Battle of Arnhem, part of Operation Market Garden, was commemorated for the 79th time on Sunday morning. Market Garden consisted of a large-scale airborne operation (Market) and a ground offensive from Belgium (Garden).

This time too, a prominent participation was planned for the youth.

And... there were still some veterans present. A lot of respect for the 'entrepreneurial spirit' of these men.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 005 'Liberation of the Netherlands' was present with a delegation. The wreath on behalf of RCL Branch 005 was laid by Comrade Wim Poppenk.

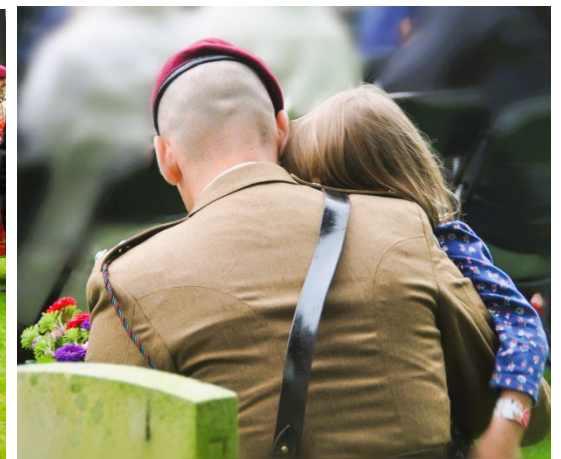

Various delegations laid a wreath or flowers.

The Parachute Regiment

"Old" meets "Young"

Source: Last Post Association.

The Last Post in the landscape -
Poperinge

The buglers of the Last Post Association leave their familiar place under the Menin Gate and travel with you into the landscape.

The evocations zoom in on one or more stories of soldiers from the First World War and are linked to music, song and words.

LANDSCAPES
FEEL FLANDERS FIELDS

De Last Post in het landschap

LIJSSENTHOEK MILITARY CEMETERY POPERINGE
Zondag 1 oktober 2023 - 15u
Meer informatie: www.lastpost.be

The first evocation was in Mesen on June 17, 2023.

(Watch the video by clicking on the photo)

The second on Sunday,
October 1, 2023.

Place: British Military Cemetery
Lijssenthoek in Poperinge.

CWGC Airborne War Cemetery
Arnhem Oosterbeek.
Tuesday, September 19, 2023.

More than 1,750 Allied soldiers are buried at the Airborne Cemetery on the Van Limburg Stirumweg in Oosterbeek. These men and boys died during the Battle of Arnhem.

On Sunday, September 17, 2023, they were commemorated with great honour in the presence of veterans, relatives and many interested parties.

© Joke Sligman

We previously paid attention in a newsletter to the Canadian CANLOAN officers who participated in Operation Market Garden and to a number of them who found a final resting place here. (Edition 2021-08)

On Tuesday, September 19, 2023, there was an additional ceremony in memory of a Dutch victim, who found his final resting place here.

The organization was in the hands of the Dutch Commando Troops Corps (KCT).

Commemorated and honoured:

A.M. Bakhuis Roozeboom.

He emigrated to Canada with his parents. On July 2, 1942 he was conscripted into the Dutch troops.

After the commando training, he was posted to No 2 Dutch Troop. During Operation Market Garden he was assigned to the 1st British Airborne Division.

© Joke Sligman

In the evening of September 19, 1944, he left the 'Hartenstein' hotel in a jeep together with British paratroopers and resistance fighter H. Beekhuizen. The intention was to contact the paratroop battalion at the Rhine Bridge in Arnhem.

However, that failed and they returned to Oosterbeek. In passing, a German Red Cross car, which turned out to be full of weapons, was captured. Just after the viaduct west of Arnhem, the jeep came under fire. Bakhuis Roozeboom, standing between the driver and co-driver, fired his Tommy gun and threw hand grenades at the Germans. Suddenly he collapsed, fatally struck. The others managed to return to Oosterbeek by jeep, where Bakhuis Roozeboom was buried in the garden of hotel 'Hartenstein'.

Later, August Bakhuis Roozeboom was buried as 'Known unto God' at the Airborne War Cemetery Oosterbeek.

After a lengthy investigation, the grave of Bakhuis Roozeboom could be located in 1996.

On May 5, 1997, in the presence of, among others, comrades-in-arms from No. 2 Dutch Troop paid tribute at his grave and said goodbye to August Bakhuis Roozeboom.

As a tribute, the tent camp where all commandos receive their elementary training is named after him.

Source, only Dutch:

<https://www.korpscommandotroepen.nl/stichting/traditie/korpsgeschiedenis/no-2-dutch-troop/operatie-market-garden-uitgebreid-beschreven/>

Flanders has gained an impressive chunk of UNESCO heritage. The World Heritage Committee has officially recognised Flanders' World War I memorial sites as world heritage sites. This includes 27 monuments and cemeteries, such as Tyne Cot Cemetery in Passchendaele and the Menin Gate in Ypres.

These commemorative sites are the backbone of Flanders Fields, a region that was a battleground of the First World War for four years. The many monuments you will find here today symbolise a universal message of peace. They fit into a collection of 139 historical memorials in Flanders (27), Wallonia (16) and France (96). That collection is now recognised as world heritage in its entirety.

With this recognition, UNESCO has designated a material world heritage site in Flanders for the eighth time. Among other things, the historic city centre of Bruges and the centuries-old printing and publishing company Plantin-Moretus in Antwerp have already featured on this prestigious list. So, this list now includes the Flanders Fields memorials as well. These monuments were already protected by the Flemish community. There is now an additional honour and responsibility, so that this invaluable heritage is preserved for eternity.

A random photo:

CWGC Buttes New British Cemetery, Zonnebeke Belgium

The obelisk on the hill commemorates the sacrifices of the 5th Australian Division. (Photo: Wikipedia)

If you would like to read more about the Australian commemorations, you will find a link to the 2017 commemoration below.

<https://www.vrt.be/vrtnws/nl/2017/09/26/australiens-herdenken-hun-doden-in-zonnebeke/>

White Ribbon Mile, Oosterbeek.
Monday evening, September 25, 2023.

Heavy rain, pitch dark and shelling.

More than 2,300 young men from the defeated British First Airborne Division tried to cross the Lower Rhine between Oosterbeek and Driel during the night of September 25 to 26, 1944. It was raining heavily and it was pitch dark, because the public lighting was no longer functioning. And there was the constant danger of enemy shelling.

On the night of September 25 to 26, 1944, the British 1st Airborne Division withdrew from the perimeter in Oosterbeek. The soldiers walked along white ribbons in the dark to the Rhine where they went by boat or swimming to the southern bank.

How different it is on a Monday evening in 2023, when a group of people walk the same route to commemorate the courage of these Polish and British soldiers. The weather is pleasant and in the distance the street lights sparkle in Driel and in the Schuytgraaf district of Arnhem

Just like then, white ribbons have been strung to mark the route to the river. Although the ribbons are not now, as they were then, made from strips of parachute fabric. Even now they show the way from the Oude Kerk in Oosterbeek to the Rhine.

The group walks the 'White Ribbon Mile' in silence. This tour is traditionally the last in the series of commemorations surrounding the Battle of Arnhem in the municipality of Renkum.

Source: Suzanne Huibers, gelderlander.nl

Photos:
Erik van't Hullenaar

Editorial addition:

Don't underestimate the roll of the Canadian Engineers.

They evacuated more than 2.000 soldiers.

-hs-

Column comrade Wim Poppenk. Canada Holiday Trip 2023.

For the first time, after the Corona period, it was possible again to travel without restrictions.

Some deliberations and slowly but surely the plans took shape.

Our first contacts with Canada were created by opening our home to Canadian veterans who came back in the Netherlands during the lustrum years in which our liberation is celebrated.

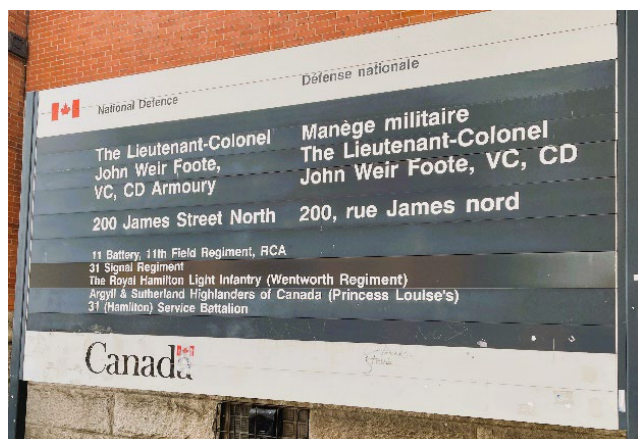

Our children, then little, had several Canadian 'grandparents' over the years. We have always kept in mind their 'urgent' request to visit them in Canada if possible.

And, we were in the fortunate circumstances of being able to visit most of them at the time. Veterans in the past, and now their children and grandchildren.

But 'chance encounters' at the Memory Freedom Museum in Nijverdal, at RCL Branch 005 in Lochem and at the Canadian War Cemeteries have also resulted in Canadian friendships.

How special it is to be invited on the first day of our holiday by friends for a tour of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry Heritage Museum.

The museum is housed in The Lieutenant-Colonel John Weir Foote, VC, CD Armoury in the middle of Hamilton.

In addition to the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry (Wentworth Regiment), the Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders of Canada, (Princess Louise's), 11th Battery, 11th Field regiment RCA, 31 signal Regiment and 31 (Hamilton) Service Battalion housed in this armoury.

At 10:00 a.m., Maj. Michael (Mike) Rehill CD ret., together with his wife, is already waiting for us at the gate of the barracks. How small can the world be if it turns out that Mike's wife is from the Netherlands, that we are peers and were also born in the same place.

Through the courtyard we enter a huge hall where the camp beds are neatly laid out.

Up the stairs, and with Mike as key holder in the lead, we enter a number of rooms that house a huge amount of relics. From medals to the banners, from portraits to bugles, from the Boer War to the Battle of the Scheldt, from the Great War to Dieppe, from Xanten to Kandahar. All this was created in the run-up to the 100th anniversary of the RHLI in 1962 and continuously supplemented afterwards.

At the 100th anniversary of the Riley's, a book was also published about the history of the regiment 'Semper Paratus'.

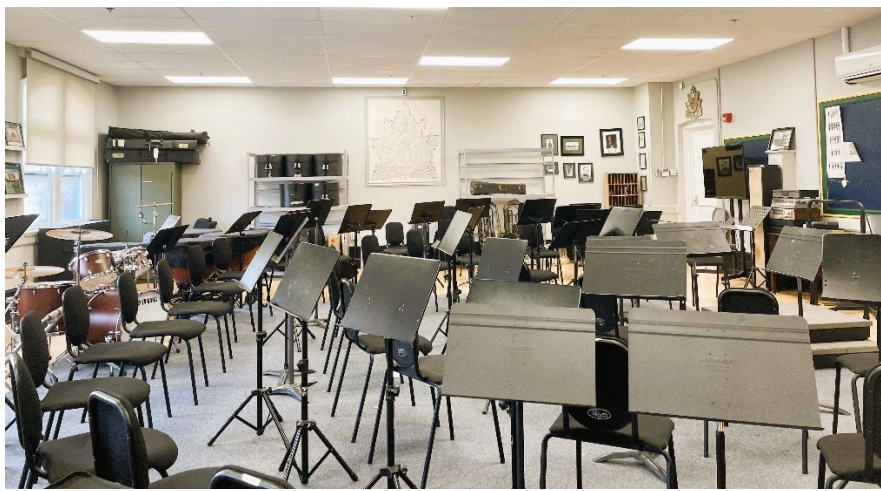

In 2012, the regiment celebrated its 150th anniversary.

Forty-three Battle Honours have been awarded to the regiment over the years.

The book that was published fifty years earlier has been updated and fifty years of history has been added:

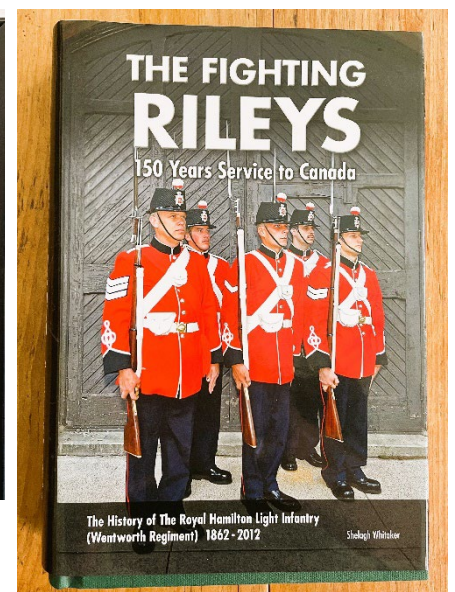

'The Fighting Rileys', the history is shown in detail.

Then to the music room, Mike's domain. Mike was the Principal Director of Music for the Canadian International Military Tattoo for 25 years and has written more than 300 arrangements.

Majoor Michael A. Rehill (ret)

Then there is time for coffee and cake in a nearby lunchroom and we almost run out of time to exchange stories.
We will definitely meet again.

Wim & Anneke Poppenk

WHAT'S COMING UP?

To see which ceremonies RCL Branch 005 will participate in in the near future, it is best to consult the agenda on our website.

<https://www.rclo05.nl/agenda-google-versie-3/>

Do you also follow us on Facebook?

Here is the link:

For the Youth Auxiliary RCL Branch 005:

https://www.instagram.com/youth_auxiliary_rcl_branch005/

To end with a smile:

